

Mallory Strotheide

Mallory Strotheide is so much more than your average lender. When she began working in the mortgage industry over ten years ago, Mallory instantly fell in love with the relationship aspect of the business. Whether connecting with agents, clients, or local business owners, she strives to create relationships and partnerships that make people's lives better. Now, as a mother of three with over 12 years of experience, Mallory is always looking for opportunities to support other moms and female business owners throughout the West Michigan community.

As a Loan Officer, Mallory takes pride in knowing that people trust her with one of the biggest financial decisions of their lives, and to her, each client is like family. Education has always been a passion of hers which has translated into her commitment to educate and empower her clients to be successful homeowners – even beyond the mortgage process. As part of this mission, she created her 'Mortgage Minute' social media series where she films short, information videos on all things mortgages. Additionally, she loves using social media to keep up with her clients' lives and share her mortgage expertise.

Originally from Portland, Michigan, Mallory now lives in Ada with her husband, Jake, their three adorable kids, Maylee, Kasen, and Kallan, and their golden retriever, Maisey. She is passionate about philanthropy and giving back to the community. In her spare time, you can find her coaching youth softball, or helping at local schools and Kid's Food Basket. Mallory is also a board member and an active volunteer with both the Women's Council of Realtors and the GRAR Young Professional Network.
