

Kalah Stratton

Home is where the heart is — and no one understands that sentiment quite like Kalah Stratton. Helping people achieve their goals of homeownership is her passion. Growing up in a family of nine, Kalah's home was central to her family unit. It was where memories were made, and where she and her six siblings were able to grow, play, and thrive. Knowing how much the family home meant to her is what makes helping people purchase a home so rewarding for Kalah. It is truly what she loves to do.

When Kalah decided to enter the mortgage industry, she knew that she wanted to work with Treadstone because of their reputation within the local community. She worked as a licensed loan officer assistant at Treadstone for four years before transitioning to her current calling as an independent loan officer. With ample experience working under different loan officers, Kalah knows what it takes to provide exceptional service.

As a loan officer, Kalah prides herself on being personable and approachable. Well aware of the intimacy of the process, she ensures her clients feel comfortable, informed, and prioritized. Kalah is dedicated to making the home buying process as fun and stress-free as possible. When you call Kalah she won't stop at just taking your application, she takes the time to understand her clients' goals to find a tailored mortgage solution that will help them become successful home owners now and in the future. Whether a client is curious about what monthly payment they can afford, or they have a unique job situation, Kalah has a deep passion to help them achieve their goals of homeownership on their terms—without the stress.

Having been with Treadstone for several years, Kalah can't imagine doing what she loves anywhere else. The culture of Treadstone provides Kalah with a space to do what she loves every day and have fun while doing it! She explains that at Treadstone "everyone is family. We laugh, problem-solve, share ideas, and learn together." The work-hard, play-hard mentality of the Treadstone crew is one of her favorite aspects of her role.

Kalah lives in Byron Center with her husband, daughter, and mini-bernedoodle. When she's not making magic happen in the office, you can likely find her staying active chasing around her toddler or hitting a workout class at Bell House Training Co, the group fitness gym she co-owns with her husband, Brandon. Kalah loves the hunt for a good spicy margarita. Add in some time by the water with family, and you've just created the ultimate day in her book.
